THE FACTS

- Shannon Miller is the most decorated American gymnast in history, with seven Olympic and nine World Championship Medals. At the 1996 Olympic Games, she won the only Gold Medal ever awarded to an American in the balance beam competition. Today she is president of the Shannon Miller Foundation, an organization dedicated to fighting childhood obesity and related diseases through the promotion of physical activity and nutritional knowledge.
- The goals of the foundation correspond with the principles represented in the Nikken 5 Pillars of Health™, and Nikken is pleased to partner with the Shannon Miller Foundation in support of wellness. A portion of the proceeds from every bracelet purchase is donated to the foundation by Nikken.
- The bracelet features magnetic technology. Human beings have lived in the earth's magnetic field for almost all of history — until modern civilization created devices that interfere with this natural field. Nikken Magnetic Technology uses a spaced array of magnets to replicate this natural magnetic flow. Each neodymium magnet in the bracelet is rated at 1,500 gauss.
- Far-Infrared Technology absorbs energy from multiple sources — ambient temperature, body heat — and reflects it as energy in the far-infrared portion of the spectrum. These wavelengths are part of all living things and necessary for survival. Far-infrared energy is expressed as a gentle warming effect, which can aid sore muscles and tendons.
- The Negative-Ion Technology in the bracelet uses natural minerals that release these ions. High levels of negative ions are present in natural settings such as forests or near waterfalls, which provide a soothing, relaxing feel.
- The silicone exterior is soft and comfortable yet holds up to wear. It is accented with 24k gold plate (a surface of pure gold) on the sleeve and clasp. The gold finish provides exceptional durability and beauty.
- The neat magnetic clasp holds the bracelet securely, but separates easily. The style and color are equally attractive on men and women.

CAUTION: If you use an electronic medical device such as a pacemaker, or have a magnetically sensitive surgical implant, do not use or wear magnetic products. Women in the first trimester of pregnancy, or anyone who has a health problem should first consult a physician before using magnetic products. Do not place magnetic products in direct contact with magnetically sensitive items such as watches, audio/video tapes, credit cards, portable electronic equipment, etc.

QUICK SHARING TIPS

Professional athletes, amateur athletes and thousands of other men and women have discovered magnetic bracelets. The term "Nikken TriPhase Technology" refers to the three innovations in each bracelet — combining magnets with far-infrared and negative ions.

Wearing this bracelet demonstrates more than only a sense of style. It also shows commitment — and a contribution — toward promoting better health, a worthwhile and important cause.
